Centre for Studies in International Relations and Development
The Centre for Studies in International Relations and Development (CSIRD) is a non-profit research organization which seeks to carry out policy-related work in the field of international economic relations and development cooperation. It aims to grow into a leading think tank to promote policy issues related to globalisation, trade and development. CSIRD emerged out of a recognised need for an institution that would give a distinct shape to the realisation of a shared future for the world. It is an organisation involved in addressing issues of multilateral, regional, bilateral and national concern to our society. The work of CSIRD is published in the form of research papers, books, working papers, and monographs. For more information about CSIRD and its activities, please visit the websites: www.csird.org.in; www.bntt.org

Indian Chamber of Commerce
The Indian Chamber of Commerce (ICC) has been working since 1925 towards creating a conducive and sustainable industry growth-oriented environment to enable the social, industrial and economic growth of the country through policy advocacy and consultancy services to serve the nation. The membership of the Chamber comprises several of the largest corporate groups in the country, with business operations all over the country and abroad. Set up by a group of pioneering industrialists led by Mr. G D Birla, the Indian Chamber of Commerce was closely associated with the Indian freedom movement, as the first organised voice of the indigenous Indian Industry. One of the most pro-active Chambers in the East, the ICC has been privileged to interact with and host several of the esteemed Indian Presidents and Prime Ministers in the past. With over 83 years of service to the nation, the ICC retains the character of being the premier Chamber with senior Indian industry leaders forming the core of its Executive Committee or the Governing Board of the Chamber. The enlightened leadership and membership of the ICC has enabled it to move ahead and respond pro-actively to the dynamic changes that have taken place in the world order and with a vision for the future.
